Our Hotel

Designed to fascinate and captivate the curious traveler, The Last Hotel promises delightful discoveries at every turn. Our spaces and programming aim to provoke a deeper sense of engagement, leaving guests with a sense of community forged through shared experiences. At once familiar and fresh, every detail has been planned in anticipation of exceeding the expectations of our guests. To this end, we deliver personalized and caring service, ensuring all feel welcome like a favorite friend. We seek to embody — not imitate — local culture and tradition. The historic building — located in St. Louis's Garment District — celebrates the fusion of history, fashion and culture, where area residents and travelers come together to share genuine, local experiences.

Getting There

St. Louis Lambert International Airport: 12 miles

St. Louis Downtown Airport: 7 miles

Accommodations

Guest rooms at The Last tell a story of both the craftsmanship of St. Louis and the heritage of the building. Bold textures, era-inspired lighting and a multitude of leather all pay homage to The International Shoe Company. Guest rooms feature custom-designed leather case goods inspired by a cobbler's bench and Bluetooth gramophones bringing the design into the modern day. Local artwork and fully restored original architectural features further bridge the past and present.

Total number of rooms: 142

Design

Interiors of The Last Hotel represent a melting pot of textures, colors, time periods and patterns. Inspired by the creative diversity of the city's culture and people, award-winning designers at ESG made St. Louis itself the muse. Original marble and terrazzo flooring, ornate column capitals and bronze light fixtures have been restored to preserve this striking and historic building. References from the Vienna Secession art movement, which inspired the original architecture, are brought inside through strong geometric lines, era-inspired lighting and unexpected high-contrast patterns — creating an eclectic vibe. The building's own rich heritage as The International Shoe Company provided inspiration for subtle themes, including lacing and leather details and references to the Weatherbird and Star brand shoes the factory once produced. Throughout the hotel, local artwork brings the past and present together.
